AIDP & The American Healthcare System

Posted December 10, 2013

Dr. Myers' patients from around the world give him a view of different health systems. Universal primary care works in New Zealand, Australia, England and other developed economies. The USA disease disaster traces to over-scheduled 20-minute docs, uninsured patients, and over-reliance on expensive ER. Penny-wise and pound-foolish. There is a role for nurse-practitioners in baseline care. There is a role for centers-of-excellence in the complex cases. Dr. Myers' value is complex cases. He is at 1500 patients and counting. He will add complementary specialty docs. Combined specialty skills are called for in the toughest cases.
